

1008 US HWY 2 East
Kalispell, MT 59901

Ph: 406-756-7568 – Fax: 406-257-7416

Air-Purifying Houseplants

Red Edged Dracena – This plant removes formaldehyde and benzene from the air, but is also capable of filtering out other toxins present.

Spider Plant – This elegant plant is great at removing poisonous gases as well as other impurities like formaldehyde and xylene.

Boston Fern – By releasing moisture into the air, they remove nasty air pollutants such as benzene, formaldehyde and xylene, providing clean air inside the home.

English Ivy - this plant has the amazing ability to remove benzene and formaldehyde and to off-gas various chemicals released by synthetic materials.

Areca Palm - This very sensitive plant with feathery fronds is best known as a humidifier. Also, helps remove deadly toxins like formaldehyde and xylene.

Golden Pothos - This plant is efficient when it comes to removing indoor pollutants such as formaldehyde, benzene and xylene.

Aloe Vera - Not only does it help with skin burns but also with filtering various gas emissions from dangerously toxic materials.

Snake Plant - this plant has the amazing ability to absorb formaldehyde, nitrogen oxides, and a variety of other chemicals present in the air.

Peace Lily – Peace Lily which is known to reduce harmful indoor toxins that may cause cancer. The peace lily is a great pollution fighter and air-purifier. It helps in removing benzene and formaldehyde present in the house.

Rubber plant - It is especially effective at removing the ubiquitous chemical formaldehyde from the air.

Heart-leaf Philodendron – This plant is particularly good at battling formaldehyde from sources like particleboard.